

Longevity Conference FAQ's

What is the address of the Longevity Conference?

277 Madison Avenue, Perth Amboy, NJ 08861

Do I need to register to attend the Longevity Conference?

Yes. Everyone must register to attend any sessions of the Longevity Conference. The evening services are free & open to the public.

Will our ID be sent in advance?

All attendees will pick up their credentials during the registration hours of the conference.

I can no longer attend the conference. Can I receive a refund?

To provide event attendees with quality programming, early fundraising efforts for the event help ensure the event's success. Due to this, we are unable to accommodate refunds or transfers to other events. However, we'd be happy to help you donate your registration to another individual to attend in your place. Simply contact us at ??? for assistance.

Will childcare be provided during the conference?

There will be no on-site childcare available during the Longevity Conference. All attendees, including children, must be registered.

Will there be vendors on site?

Yes. We have an array of vendors that will be available to you during the conference. Please stop by (the Family Life Center) to support them.

Is there a luggage room available?

Yes. See the registration table for more details.

What is the dress code?

Due to the nature of the conference, it is recommended that each attendee dresses in business casual.

Will translation be provided at the conference?

Yes, Spanish translation will be available.

Do you have any scholarships for this event?

At this time, we do not have any available scholarships. We provided different pricing specials leading up to the conference.

Will this event be live streamed?

As of now, there are no plans to offer any live streaming of the Longevity Conference. However, certain sessions will be available for purchase. On Friday night, the Word Network will be broadcasting live.

Is ground transportation provided at any time during the Longevity Conference?

No. Our attendees are responsible for your own transportation during your time at this event as well as to and from the airport.